

IN THE SPECIFICATION

Please replace the abstract as originally filed in the application with the following paragraph:

A machining apparatus is provided. The machining apparatus includes a discharge machining head assembly and a slide assembly supporting the head assembly. The machining apparatus also includes an electromagnet configured to support the slide assembly in a position on a work piece to machine an area. The slide assembly permits linear displacement of the head assembly generally parallel to the supporting work piece surface.